FRIDAY, May 25-6 P. M. On 'Change to-day wheat was firmer but duller. Flour was easier, if not heavy, and cotton strong. Two or three failures in the cotton trade were reported, but names are withheld in view of a promise that the trouble may be only temporary.

THE COTTON MOVEMENT. The receipts of cotton at all the ports for the past week were 12,083 bales, against 15,187 bales the previous week. The total receipts since September 1, 1871, are 2,641,119 bales, against 3,756,898 for the corresponding period of previous year, showing a decrease in the present crop of 1,115,799 bales, The exports from all the ports for the week were 28,838 bales, against 56,540 bales for the same week last year. The total exports for the expired portion of the cotton year are 1,836,252 bales, against 2,892,984 bales for the same time last year. The stock at all the ports is 211,020 bales, against 300,843 bales for the same date in 1871.

THE MONEY MARKET was easy, with a steady supply to the stockbrokers at 6 per cent and to the government dealers at 5 a 6 per cent. Prime paper was quoted 7 a 8 per cent discount. Foreign exchange was unaltered. THE BANK STATEMENT.

The chief features of the bank statement are a decrease of over two millions in loans and a gain of nearly two and a half millions in the supplies over the legal reserve. The contraction in loans is not readily explained, unless it represents the liquidation in the stock market during the week by large holders who (borrowers previously from the banks) sold their stocks and returned th loans. Considerable of this is thought to have been done by the operators in Pacific Mail more especially. The actual gain in legal reserve has been over three millions, composed chiefly, as may be in-ferred, of legal tenders, the gain in specie being rather larger than was generally anticipated, co sidering the outward current of specie. The ban have now $9,815,675 in excess of the required r serve-a gain for the week of $2,426,575. T statement compares with its predecessor being determined by the renewed strength of the foreign market. THE STOCK MARKET was in an unsettled state, and on the whole duller, the temptation to enlarge the partial holiday of 500 Un Pac RR. Saturday into a whole one keeping many, and 200 do..... taking others, out of town. Its tone was also heavy, under a disposition to sell noticed early in the forenoon, and the excellent bank statement and promises of a passage this evening of the Supplemental Treaty resolution failed to revive its drooping tendency. Just as the bank statement got into the hands of the early birds who figure for it from daybreak every Saturday, and therefore on this occasion was supposed to be capable of "making a market," the larger "bulls" gave orders to sell, and stocks were rattled out at a lively rate, but the abundant offering occasioned a more serious decline than was anticipated in view of the expected effect of the bank statement, and the orders and to be withdrawn. A reaction followed, but the disclosure of weakness had frightened off the timid would-be buyers, and engagements were, theregenerally deferred until next week, lucrative prospects of stock investments the eve of the ratification of Supplemental Treaty to the contrary notwithstanding. The stocks more particularly pressed for sale were Northwestern, Pacific Mail-C. C. and I. C., Western Union and Boston, Hartford and Erie. Harlem declined from 127 to 124. THE SOUTHERN STATE BONDS were generally steady. South Carolina, new, July's, were quiet at 35 and Tennessees at 73%.

GOVERNMENT BONDS were decidedly strong and advanced to the best rures reached this spring, their firmness to-day

Early in April la t the firm of Mills & Gibbs, in Broadway, near Canal street, employed a man named Nortis Montgomery as travelling agent, and named Norris Montgomery as travelling agent, and sent him South with a lot of sliks, scarfs and ribbons. Montgomery, on his way to "the land of music, love and flowers," stopped at Baltimore, where he sold a bill of goods and received the pay for them in checks. The firm allege that he did not transmit the checks to them, but kept them himself. Yesterday he returned from his trip, and was at once arrested and taken before Judge Hogan, at the Tombs Police Court, where he was searched and checks to the amount of $2,300 found on his person. A complaint was taken against him, on which he was locked up in default of $2,000 bail.

THE ENGLISH OLIGARCHY ABUSED.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD :-Can it be possible that the poltroons who are at the head of our national government at Washing ton can so far forget their high position as the representatives and servants of the American people as to sink the station and themselves into the lowest cesspool of disgrace and dishonor at the menaces of the English oligarchy? Do they fail to feel the public pulse? Can they not comprehend the tone of public feeling and sentiment in this country on the Alabama claims question? We look in vain at the muddled state of that question for an affirmative answer. However deplorable war may be, I risk nothing when I say that nine-tenths of th American people would rather have war with all its evils and its horrors, than to yield one lota to the dictation of the English government. Nationa honor and dignity are far preferable to bounds sterling, or the Washington Treaty, so called. I say, therefore, hold firmly on to the position assume by the government of this country and the people. Let the Alabama question and consequential damages and all go to the Geneva Tribunal for fina settlement. War is far preferable to the position of settlement. War is far preferable to the position of the nation which has backed down at the badgering and dragooning of the English Parliament. Let the Grant administration, instead of going through this backing down ordeal, appropriate $100,000,000, and at once put upon the stocks fifty first class fron war ships, strengthen the forts throughout the country and perfect the torpedo system.

This solution of the grave difficulty will hardly meet the approval of the man of one idea at the head of the Treasury, who cracks his Treasury whip in the ears of his satellites and minions as the signal to new acts of plunder and robbery to be added to the Interminable list of spoliations. The Treasury spies who infest the country are let loose upon the people generally, and upon the small manufacturers in particular, who, by some hook or crook, are beguiled into some technical violation of the revenue meshes, and thus, "having no rights which a white man is bound to respect," are hurried off to prison and a part of their hard-earned effects go into the pockets of the scoundreis who do the dirty work, while the balance roils into the plethoric coffers of the one-idea man, who coolly turns the key on it and there holds it, at the expense of our merchant marine, our navy, our forts, &c., all of which are sunken to contemptible proportions, while he is fondly imagining himself a financier and statesmen. A truce to the day of small things, small men, small heads, minim and minnow statesmen. the nation which has backed down at the badger-

THE COURTS.

The Avenue C Railroad Mortgages-A Marriage Declared Null and Void-Van Saun Admitted to Bail-Decisions.

SUPREME COURT-CHAMRERS. The Trusteeship of the Mortgages Upon the Avenue C Railroad Before Judge Leonard.

It will be remembered that a few days ago appli cation was made in this Court by a majority of th bondholders under the first mortgage of the Avenue C Ratiroad to remove Sheppard Knapp, the trustee of that mortgage, on the ground that he being the trustee of both the first and second mortgages intended to purchase both together. To this the applicants objected, claiming that the first should be purchased alone for their benefit. Judge Leonard took the matter under advisement, and yesterday rendered the following opinion, which, from the peculiar nature of the case and the interests involved, we give in full :-

rendered the following opinion, which, from the peculiar nature of the case and the interests involved, we give in full:—

This application is made by a majority in interest of the bondholders under the first mortgage covering a portion only of the railroad. Mr. Knapp is also trustee under the second mortgage upon the same portion of the railroad, and covering also the other portions of the railroad upon which there is no other mortgage lien. The only complaint against him as trustee is that he declines to employ counsel for the foreclosure of the first mortgage, selected by a majority in interest of the bondholders under that mortgage, and also declines to elect to act as trustee only under one of the said mortgages, and to resign his trusteeship under the other. There is clearly nothing affecting his character for integrity embraced in the charges, and it is by no means clear that he is not acting with sound judgment in declining to act separately in foreclosing either of the said mortgages in which he is named as the trustee upon the default which has occurred. The question as to whether the road shall be sold under foreclosure, in parcels according to the portion included in the first mortgage, may be, and probably is, one of nice discretion to be judiciously determined by the Court after evidence has been taken showing how such a sale may affect the interests of the bondholders under both mortgages by selling the road in one parcel as a whole, while it might prove insufficient to satisfy both mortgages by selling the road in one parcel as a whole, while it might prove insufficient to satisfy both mortgages by selling the road in one parcel as a whole, while it might prove insufficient to satisfy both mortgages by selling the road in one parcel. So the stockholders of the mortgages if sold in separate partions a case would arise where the Court would be justified in considering the reports of the stockholders on a foreclosure sale, and the subject should be decided upon equitable discretion. There are other sented at the trial on that question, and as may consistent with the rights of the two classes consistent with the rights of the two classes of bondholders. I do not consider the right of removal absolute upon the application of the majority of the bondholders. The removal is not to be capri-ciously made, nor without sufficient grounds. The motion is denied, but without costs.

A Marriage Declared Nutl and Vold. Some two years ago Carl Von Engweihingen came, as alleged, from Germany to this country, eaving behind him a wife to whom he had leaving behind him a wife to whom he had been several years married. Shortly after his arrival he found the acquantance of Emma Gruber and married her at Morrisiana, the ceremony being performed by a justice of the peace of that town. They lived happily and had a child now twenty-two months old. A few weeks ago the first wife called at their residence; the husband was absent; but the second wife was told by the first wife the fact of his prior marriage with her, which fact the husband on his return home acknowledged. The matter was brought into this Court and Mr. Richard C. Beamis's appointed referee, and before him were developed the above facts. He reported in favor of declaring the second marrirge null and void, and the Court to-day confirmed this report. Meantime the twice-married Von Engweihingen, hearing that proceedings were to be instituted against him for bigamy, has skedaddled, it is said, to parts unknown.

Messrs. Howe and Hummel appeared for the defence, and on the case being called, moved the discharge of their client on the ground that the board on which the bill or bills are alleged to have been posted itself encroached on the city property to the extent of an inch and a quarter, and further, that it was erected on its present site without the least shadow of authority from the city government, in consequence of which it is public property, and any and every one is at liberty to make use of it as they see fit.

THE BRUSSELS MURDER.

The Accused Brought Into the United States Court on Habeas Corpus.

Has the State of New York the Right to Extradite Where the Federal Government Has Not?

ANOTHER EFFORT TO SAVE VOGT.

The case of Joseph Stopp, alias Carl Vogt, charged with the murder of M. C. Chevaller Dubois Bianca on the 2d of October, 1871, and the burning of his chateau, situated just outside of the city of Brussels, Belgium, was up in the United States District Court yesterday morning before Judge Blatchford. The case and the proceedings thus far taken in its connection are rather pecu liar, and involve a very grave question, viz., the right of a State to extradite a prisoner in face of the fact that the federal government possesses no such right where a treaty of extradition does not exist between this country and the country where the crime was alleged to have been committed. It will be necessary to briefly review the particulars of the crime with which Vogt stands charged to get at the unconstitutionality of Governor Hoffman's Vogt arrived in this country shortly subsequent to the murder of the Chevalier Bianca. He was arrested in the city of Philadelphia on a telegram from the Brussels authorities, and taken before United States Commissioner Shields, in this city The Belgian Consul here applied for his extradition, but upon examination it was found that no treaty existed between the two governments. consequently Vogt could not be sent back. Part of the bonds stolen from the Chevalier were found on the person of the prisoner. A warrant was then sued out from the General Sessions for the arrest of Vogt on a charge of grand sions for the arrest of Vogt on a charge of grand larceny, and he was immediately taken into custody, after his discharge by Commissioner Shleids, and lodged in the Tombs. This could be done on the ground that where a man brings stolen goods into this from another country he can be extradited and tried for the offence where the theft was committed. Such is the gist of an old law of the State of New York. On this warrant, then, from the General Sessions, and upon the decision of Governor Hoffman to the above effect, Vogt was kept in the Tombs preparatory to shipment to Brussels.

Governor Hoffman to the above effect, Vogt was kept in the Tombs preparatory to shipment to Brussels.

To-day a writ issued by Judge Blatchford, on the application of Messrs, John L. Anthon and William F. Kintzing, counsel for the accused, was returnable. At the time appointed word was sent from the Tombs that the prisoner was not held on a charge of murder, but under the jurisdiction of the Court of General Sessions, on a warrant charging grand larceny, and therefore it was not imperative on the State authorities to comply with the writ by producing Vogt.

District Attorney Garvin, who, with Mr. A. S. Sullivan, appeared for the people, said, upon the case being called, Vogt was committed by Justice Hogan on a charge of larceny, he having been subsequently indicted by the Grand Jury. He was now held on that indictment.

Judge Blatchford said, in reply to Mr. Anthon, that he had no cognizance of the action of the Governor. He then, upon suggestion of Mr. Garvin, dismissed the writ, and almost immediately after the prisoner was reconveyed to the Tombs.

Now, here is the question:—Has the State of New York the right to send the accused back upon an application from the Belgian government when, if such application was addressed to the United States government, to which it should properly be addressed, it must have been refused, as no treaty exists between the countries, nor does or can any exist between Belgium and the State of New York ?

A Respite for Vogt.

in consequence of the action of Judge Blatchford in dismissing the writ of habeas corpus. It was ascertained that Vogt was to have been shipped at three tained that Vogt was to have been shipped at three o'clock for Brussels, where he would be tried, undoubtedly, not for having stolen bonds in his possession, but for the murder of the Chevaller Bianca. His counsel, as a last resource, hurried before Judge Curtis, of the Superior Court, at one o'clock, and applied for another writ of habeas corpus, which was granted just in time to stop the transportation of Vogt, who was about to be conveyed on board the steamer at Hoboken, Mr. Sullivan appeared for the people. The writ was made returnable on Monday at one P. M. And so the matter stands for the present.

THE TEMPERANCE CAUSE IN JERSEY.

Statistics of the liquor houses in Hoboken, recently collected by Officer Haves, show that there are at present in that city no less than 226 stores in which intoxicating drinks are sold—an increase of eight over the number of last year. As the popula-tion is estimated at 22,000, there is a whiskey and beer house for every 100 inhabitants. There are only twelve churches in Hoboken, and, on the whole, they are not half as well patrouized as the liquor shops.
